Statute aims

The Association is a non-profit organization promoting free and full expression of spiritual quality in human beings, equal political rights and social solidarity.

In particular, the Association promotes and develops the following activities:

- Historical-political studies and analysis addressed to deepen the knowledge about the real situation in Italy, Europe and on a global scale.
- Psychological, pedagogical and educational researches and experiments in order to draw up and elaborate educational methods which promote the free and full expression of spiritual quality of human beings.
- Project management. Realisation and coordination of vocational training courses and other activities related to the educational sector (scholastic and post-scholastic) of vocational training and social work
- Economic and social researches addressed to create an appropriate relation between labour and capital considering man's moral tasks and people's missions.
- Enhancement and protection of the natural and environmental heritage, as it is an irreplaceable resource of harmony between man and the surrounding world.
- Useful leisure and healing practices to maintain and recover the correct physical and psychical equilibrium.

To best accomplish its statute aims, the Association can create scientific and/or cultural commissions and committees.

The Association activities are divided into four main areas (Culture and Information, Training, Consulting).

In order to activate and renovate these services, C.L.A.R. has developed a series of noteworthy synergies with institutions and public bodies and has activated specific information channels which consent a good monitoring of the main areas of interest.
